PROGRAMME OUTLINE - HABITAT FORUM

Habitat Forum will open on Thursday, May 27, 1976 at 15:00 hours (3:00 p.m.) and will run through to Friday, June 11. The programme outline described below is a framework within which spontaneous meetings/workshops/discussions/lectures/films/demonstrations or whatever can develop.

The first three days will introduce the Forum participants to the issues the U.N. Conference will be addressing. Non-governmental organizations (NGOs) will also work on a Declaration that will be presented to the U.N. Conference, outlining what the Forum sees as the most pressing areas of concern, which the Government delegates should do something about.

The two working weeks - Monday, May 31 to Friday, June 4 and Monday, June 7 to Friday, June 11 - provide the ten days for substantive discussion of issues. The Plenary session will discuss the nine central themes over nine of these days. The final day - Friday, June 11 - is being left open.

The nine plenary themes are:

- * The Man-Made and the Natural Environment
- * Social Justice and the Question of Differing Values and Cultures
- * Sharing and Managing the World's Resources
- * National Settlement Policies
- * People's Participation in Planning and Implementation
- * Land Use and Ownership
- * Community Action for a Better Habitat
- * Rural Development
- * Appropriate Technology

Three to four panelists have been invited to speak briefly, at each of these plenary sessions, to outline and clarify the theme. The plenary session can then evolve into a dialogue/panel discussion or break up into groups to discuss various aspects of the plenary subject.

A number of workshops will run at the same time as the plenary. The programme has been arranged so that the subject areas of the workshops and the plenaries do not overlap too much. These workshops are being coordinated by NGOs with wide experience in the subject area. As in the plenary sessions, any person may speak.

There are also enough rooms - many equipped with basic audio-visual equipment - to accommodate any meeting/workshop/discussion that is generated by discussions at the Forum. Any individual or group can book a room at the Forum and the daily newspaper will carry details of these meetings if the rooms are booked a day or so in advance.

ALL MEETINGS AT THE FORUM ARE FREE AND OPEN TO EVERYONE.

The basic schedule of plenaries, workshops and lectures that form the core programme is as follows:

| Friday, June 11   | Lunch Lecture | Ivan Illich - "Density and Dignity".   | Plenary Hall                        |

Morning briefing sessions will be at 9:00 each day in the Plenary Hall. Plenary and morning workshop sessions will begin at 10:15 and lunch lectures will begin at approximately 13:30. Afternoon workshops will commence at 15:00.

During the Forum, several of the above and other programmes will run for more than one day, or throughout the Forum. For example:

- Self Help and Low Cost Housing Symposia will run throughout the Forum and will have presentations/lectures/discussions every day. This symposium has been organized in response to the many people, worldwide, who have expressed interest in presenting papers and audio-visual presentations on this subject.
- Building Human Community will be a series of workshop/seminars with slide/tape presentations documenting field projects in Bangladesh, Guatemala, Jamaica and Cuba. These projects have successfully involved members of the community in a process of continuing self-development planning (economic, health and family planning) that the community can sustain on its own. These will be presented at the NGO Film Room (Hangar 8) on the five working days preceding the Plenary Session "Community Action for a Better Habitat".
- World Council of Churches will present case studies of citizens' groups from cities around the world once each day.

Basic audio-visual facilities are available to any participant for use during workshops, lectures and discussions. Also, an audio-visual programme each evening will provide background to the main subject areas to be discussed the next day.

There will also be extensive demonstrations and exhibits both inside and outside. One large hangar will house more than 60 exhibits from different national and international groups:

China Exhibit. In addition to the China programme already outlined, there will be a major exhibit on China prepared by the Canada China Friendship Society. The first part of this will present four photographers' views of China to give the viewer a historical introduction and contrast pre and post 1949 China. The second section will focus on the workings of a typical neighbourhood street committee in Peking, Fengshen and will examine the structure of the administration, the educational and health services within the neighbourhood and the small scale industries at the neighbourhood scale.

Appropriate Technology Programme and Exposition. In addition to the Plenary Session, there will be a major Exposition and a series of discussions/working session on "Appropriate Technology". The Exposition will explain the concept of Appropriate Technology - i.e., how a technology should meet the needs of the people it is designed to serve, how it should be environmentally sound and utilize readily available resources - and graphically illustrate examples of both "appropriate" and "inappropriate" technologies around the world. The discussions/working groups will meet for the three days prior to the Plenary Session and will give participants interested in this area a chance to meet.

Other exhibitors will include:

Friends of the Earth
Peace Action League
Rehabilitation International
Chile Solidarity
Arcosanti
Cuba
B.O.M.A. International

Washington State
Food for the Hungry
Ecology Action Institute
Sierra Club
Greenpeace Foundation
Fourth World
World Soc. for Ekistics

International Union of Architects
Citizens' Association to Save the Environment
Community Planning Association of Canada
United Prisoners' Rights Movement
International Planned Parenthood Federation
International Federation of Surveyors
Mercury Pollution Action Group
International Organization for Standardization

The outdoor exhibit area will be concentrated on a cluster of buildings that demonstrate low cost shelter techniques - particularly those appropriate to the needs and resources of the developing countries. More than twelve innovative shelter techniques will be demonstrated. New concepts in support services for the housing will link the different buildings. These will include intensive cropping, organic gardening, utilization of solar and wind power for heat and electricity, sewerless sewage disposal, solar water distillation and solar cooking.

An extensive library and book display at Habitat Forum will contain books/papers/magazines which have relevance to Human Settlements and the main subject areas the U.N. Conference and Habitat Forum will be discussing. NGOs and participants are invited to bring two copies of any literature they feel has relevance to Human Settlements for placing in this library and book display. U.N. documents relating to the Conference will also be available. The library will be open to all participants at the Forum to use for research or for ordering any of the material on display. Copying will be available at cost.

The Forum site at Jericho Beach has five converted seaplane hangars that serve as the main buildings within which Forum activities will take place. These facilities include:

- Main Plenary Hall, seating 1,500 people which has simultaneous translation facilities (English/French/Spanish). This building also has two 150-seat rooms, a number of smaller rooms and a press centre.
- Two workshop/film theatres - one seating 800, one seating 400. Both have simultaneous translation facilities (English/French/Spanish).
- Workshop space for up to 600 people, contributed papers room, seating 150 and many other conference rooms for use by working groups at the Forum.
- Social centre - food, lounge area, bar, shops, etc.
- Exhibit hall with three film theatres, library/reading room and some small meeting rooms.
